CLASSIC

Introducing...

The Calder Range of specially designed architectural columns will bring a touch of class to your next project.

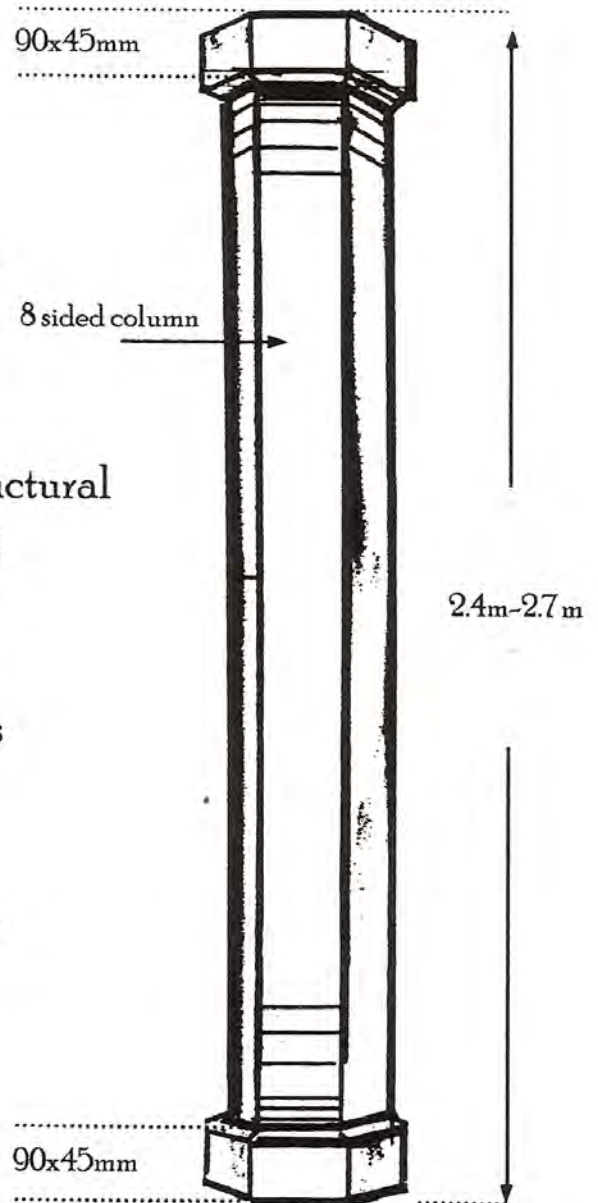

These architecturally designed, non-structural columns can be fitted at any time during construction, due to a removable panel.

Their innovative new design suits today's modern building styles.

Enhance your residential or commercial designs with these classic architectural forms.

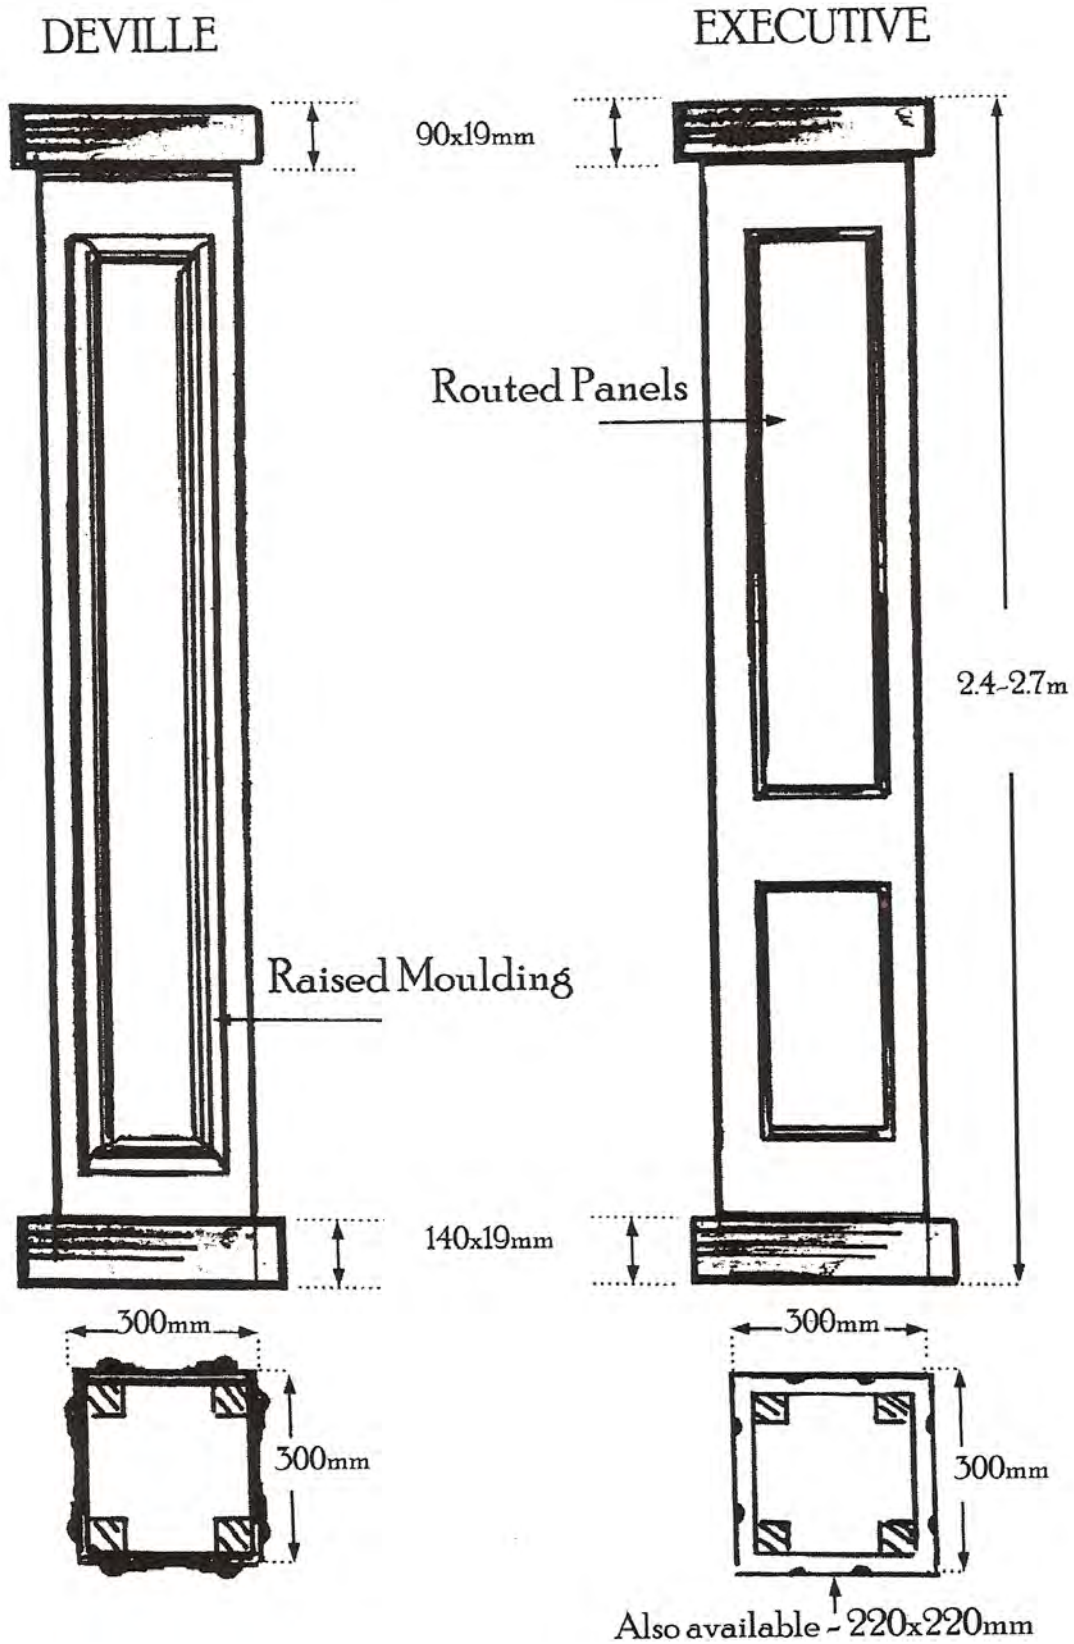

We can advise before and during construction, on how to achieve your specific requirements.

Calder Columns are available to suit your individual requirements.
